On Customs Amendment (Banning Goods Produced by Uyghur Forced Labour) Bill 2020

Committee Secretary
Senate Foreign Affairs, Defence and Trade Legislation Committee
PO Box 6100
Parliament House
Canberra ACT 2600
Email: fadt.sen@aph.gov.au
Date of Submission 28 Jan 2021 (Submission due 5 Feb 2021)

The Submission

1. Our response in consultation with or Chinese , Sikh Australian communities. and the general multicultural communities.

In our internal consultation with our Chinese and Multicultural colleagues, we frequently encountered these questions. We are in no position to answer these questions properly and instead we propose to share this information with the Senate committee in good faith. The questions below were frequently asked of us:

- 1.1 Why the interest in Xinjiang of all the other places in China?
- 1.2 Is the very focus on Xinjiang is already a leading question?
- 1.3 Is there indeed forced labour in Xinjiang?
- 1.4 How could one write a fair submission if there is no real access to information on a sensitive subject in China?
- 1.5 One would assume that for a fair report, one would have to ask the Chinese government for information. In which case, how would one be sure that the information given is genuine? Or can we refer to the Global Times as a source of information?
- 1.6 The other information that can be gleaned from available sources have too much political agenda and how would one determines its authenticity?
- 1.7 Do you not think that the task given to you is full of traps?

2. Reasons for our submission

Despite the questions in Section 1.0 and the perceived attitude of the questioners, we decided to participate in this national enquiry as responsible and loyal citizen of Australia and to express our independent views, free of any foreign influence and most importantly, to have the opportunity and freedom in expressing our views in a democratic Australian society and in our national interests.

3. Here is our stand for the issue.

3.01 We recognize the sensitivity of this submission particularly to our fellow 1.2 million Australians of Chinese descent.

3.02 As Australians, we uphold the principle of not consuming goods produced by forced labour, coming from any country. Ideally, we should ban chocolate (see Sec 4.4 (a))

3.03 Before we make a commitment in the use of such good, we have to be convinced that there is ample and sufficient legal evidence or proof that the goods were made under "slavery conditions". Such action has to be ratified by the UN General Assembly. Credible enquiries on Xinjiang would need to be at the level of UN enquiry and we refer the Senate to Michael Kirby's contribution to human rights. (see item 4.1(i)).

3.04 Conditions in item (3.03) must be met to give credibility and truth about a manufactured item and to avoid playing geopolitics or being accused of being partisan or subject to propaganda.

3.05 The ban of such goods should not only be applied to China but to all goods from global sources where goods are made by forced labour, otherwise the world would condemn us for being "racists" or "xenophobic".

3.06 We are aware of the current deterioration of the Australia-China relations. The current "trade wars" is already costing billions of dollars in export revenue in agriculture, tourism, education and now coal and costing thousands of Australian jobs, it is very likely that the Chinese government will consider this public inquiry as another China bashing exercise and therefore, will remain hostile to any government attempts to negotiate for a diplomatic solution for our broken diplomatic and trade relations. Articles of interests on Australia-China relations can be found in Section 4.2 (4.2(a) to 4.2(h)).

3.07 Although the FADT inquiry may be presented as a domestic issue and it is Australia's right to make such inquiry. Despite this, there may be unintended consequence arising from the question of timing - "Why now when the relations are frozen" and the question of being discreet, ie. "Why do we need to make it so public as to attract unnecessary Chinese attention" as these circumstances would only add fuel to fire.

3.08 This proposed Act in banning manufactured good made by force labour and in Xinjiang, if done without evidence or facts, could be considered a unilateral action of Australia's. If it is a fact, then the evidence speaks for itself and we can stand upright and upholding our principles. If the evidence is controversial or severely challenged, it would damage Australia's international reputation as a fair dinkum nation. The collateral damage to Australia's global reputation, influence etc. would be large and would turn the world against us.

3.09 There may be other contrary evidence that there is no forced labour in Xinjiang. Section 4.1 (4.1(a) to 4.1(h)) are information obtained from the internet and makes the allegations of Uighur forced labour sounds controversial.

3.10 If we make the allegations, we better get it right otherwise we will be labelled as hypocrites and will be perceived as being a sore loser seeking revenge since the last covid-19 raised about the origin of the virus. (Note: Section 4.2 (a) – China targets Australian human rights record).

3.11 For these reasons, we would submit to the Senate that inquiry and subsequent passing of the law, would not be in our national interests, for economic and geopolitical reasons. (see: Section 4.3 (4.3(a) to 4.3(j)) in John Menadue P&I Australian blog).

3.12 The UK stand on this issue is somewhat ambiguous. (See Section 4.4(b) and 4.4(c)).

3.13 The US “Uyghur Forced Labor Prevention Act. , was awaiting approval in the Senate, having breezed through Congress on Dec2020 and it would appear that Australia just follows. A better understanding of the US-China relations is best presented by Prof Kishore Mahbubani of Singapore, and former UN Security Council President, does help to clarify the background. (see Section 4.4(d)). The url for a video contradicting western claims on Xinjiang forced labor can be found in Section 4.4(e).

3.14 If there is some truth in the allegations of forced labour manufactured goods, it is a better way to approach the problem by diplomatic solutions rather than trade sanctions.

3.15 The passing of this Bill by the Senate would no doubt attract repercussions from China and consequently make Australia the lonely man in the Asia Pacific holding the poison chalice when Biden and Xi make up.

3.16 We make this submission as independent Chinese Australians who have Australian national interests at heart, and are free from interference from the Chinese Communist Party or the Chinese government.

*Report highlight: Dennis Etler: The bill passed by the US Senate is yet another attempt to demonize China and inflame public opinion against the PRC. It is based on unsubstantiated allegations that the Uyghurs of China are being subjected to wholesale repression and subjugation as an ethnic minority. The evidence for these allegations has been provided by separatists in Xinjiang aided, abetted and funded by the US government. Thus, the US government funds numerous groups which are then used to provide evidence used by that same government to sanction China. This is nothing but a self-fulfilling prophecy and should lack any degree of credibility by an objective observer. As Secretary of State Pompeo himself revealed, the US is proud to lie, cheat and steal and has “entire training courses” in how to do it. You can rest assured that the anti-China separatists in Xinjiang who happen to be of Uyghur ethnicity are following the precepts of their US sponsors and are taught how to do so. The allegations directed against China in the US Senate bill are concocted in that manner from half-truths and distortions of the actual situation in order to provide the US ammunition in its propaganda war against China.

Report highlight: For some time, I have been warning the world that the West, and the United States in particular, are helping to radicalize the Uyghurs in Xinjiang Province and outside.

And not only that: I clearly mapped movement of the Uyghur radicals through some countries like Indonesia, towards Turkey, from where they are then injected into brutal war zones like Idlib in Syria. I worked in Idlib area, with the Syrian commanders, and I spoke at length with the Syrian internally displaced people; victims of the Uyghur genocidal attacks.
